

EMERGING LEADERS PROGRAM

The Emerging Leaders Program leverages the unique assets of emerging leaders from Warren and Youngstown to create pathways to decision making tables in the Mahoning Valley. The program uses a small group model to explore and cultivate 21st century leadership skills and foster radical imagination among participants.

What You'll Develop

- A clearer purpose articulated in an Individual Leadership Plan
- An ability to apply a racial equity lens to your life and work
- A strong and active network of peers and community leaders
- A deeper understanding of self and your role in the community
- A portfolio of relevant and useful leadership tools

What You'll Do

- Trust exercises
- Team building
- 360° Assessment
- Collaboration
- Networking
- Capacity building
- Check-in/Check-out
- Immersion learning

What You'll Explore

- Self-awareness and emotional intelligence
- Race, equity and inclusion
- Values and motivation
- Types and sources of power
- Asset Based Community Development
- Effective and purposeful communication
- Meaningful collaboration
- Systems thinking

The program valued at $2,800 per participant is funded by The Raymond John Wean Foundation.

Most sessions held at:
147 West Market Street
Warren, Ohio 44481
Western Reserve Room

Who should apply?

WARREN and YOUNGSTOWN residents who:

- Are ready to influence others at the decision making tables in the Valley.
- Believe real, lasting change must be achieved at the system level and are willing to disrupt the status quo.
- Are willing to make a long-term commitment to personal leadership development and change.

Contact

Corrie Adams, Program Officer
330.394.5600 ext.102
cadams@rjweanfdn.org